Genevieve is a northern blooded songstress inspired by the environment, nature, and the alluring people she has met throughout the years. She thoughtfully connects heavy emotions through lyrics & melodies, paired with a groovy alternative vibe. Genevieve currently resides in Prince George, BC on the ancestral, unceded lands of the Lheidli T'enneh First Nation with her partner, two orange cats, and dog. She is currently gearing up for festival season 2024 to promote her new EP "Why Am I Like This". RIYL: Sarah Harmer, Florence and the Machine, Madi Diaz.

Genevieve Jaide's third album "Why Am I Like This" was written as a coping mechanism to work through her personal mental health journey. The title track is a specific story about social anxiety in where you wish you could promptly teleport literally *anywhere* from the situation that you are in - a pretty relatable feeling. The single, "I Feel Everything", is an explosion of emotions that can no longer be held inside and is paired with a very intriguing music video that has reached over 21K views! The song leaves you feeling uncomfortable and wondering 'what the heck did I just watch?', yet somehow you can't look away and will have this powerhouse tune stuck in your head for days.

The EP sifts through different memories and digs deep into the strange realities of one's messy mind. The genre jumps around from alternative, folk, indie-pop, to Canadiana, but maintains Jaide's lyrically driven and terrifically vulnerable singer-songwriter vibe.

'I hope this album helps you through your wandering moments like it has helped me through mine.'
